Reflection

1st April

Through visiting the water treatment factory , I find that chemistry is not only a subject to study , but also technology to improve human life . Also I learn how medicine works , the compounds in the medicine acts like a key to stop some reaction that we don't want . That's pretty smart , but I wonder whether stopping a natural reaction artificially is correct or not .Lastly , the tour to the university laboratory really broaden my horizons . I feel fortunately to have this chance to have the life-wide learning day experience.
