Through lively and thoughtful introduction of the drugs by the staff in the centre, I understood the impact brought about by drug abuse, the causes of it and background information of drugs more deeply. I felt shocked that drugs were originally designed to cure diseases, like mental disorder, but I can't imagine why the people take these drugs now. Overall speaking, I like the sharing of a girl who was an addict. Her experience was really convincing. I understand more about the attitude of them and causes of the drug abuse, like lack of parental care.
